Ron, Blanche, & Faron,

Just dropping a line with some pictures attached about our elk hunting trip.

This is a trip that I had dreamed about basically my entire life.

My Dad & brothers all talked about going on a trip like this and it never worked out for them.

Two of them are no longer with us, but I sure felt them with us on this adventure.

I (57) was fortunate enough to share this with my only son Cole (30)

We started this adventure sending out emails to various guides in basically 4 different states. They all had great testimonials, pictures, and references, of past customers.

We narrowed it down to 3 outfitters, and I probably drove them nuts with all of the emails that I sent asking various questions about our upcoming hunting trip.

Ron & Blanche Schalla of RB Outfitters, always answered my questions and made it easy to follow on the steps that we had to take to get everything in line with, applications, what to and not to bring, maps and directions, just plain honest and plain direction to follow. After all that they did, we decided to go with RB Outfitters, and we are sure glad that we did.

The North Central New Mexico area is about a breathtaking of scenery that there is in the USA, we just can't take that for granted.

The accommodations were very comfortable wall tents with great cots, very nice clean mess hall where Blanche served 3 sq. delicious meals each day if needed, shower facilities, clean outdoor bathrooms. They have pick up trucks, gators, and great horses to get you anywhere that you need to be.

We have to personally "Thank" Faron Dodge who was our personal guide. Faron is Ron's brother in law, Blanche's brother, who killed his first bull at the age of 16 and he has been hunting elk ever since. Faron gave his all every day to make sure that Cole & I had a great adventure, not just killing, rather enjoying the whole experience. He was always patient and explained what and why we were doing what we were doing.

I have attached some beautiful pictures of Cole's very nice 5 X 6 Bull, our guide Faron & Cole, and Cole & I with his trophy of a lifetime. I think dad was happier than son about the tremendous trophy.

To sum this trip up, it was everything that we hoped it would be. I could go on & on talking about everything that happened on our adventure.

RB Outfitters have a lot to be proud of, they treat people how you would want to be treated. Their many years of guide service truly shines very successful! Keep up the good work.

I have been in sales my entire life, and the key to success is happy customers, we are extremely happy that we chose RB Outfitters.

All The Best,
Jeff & Cole
